Plympton St Maurice is a highly sought after historic suburb offering medieval charm, a village atmosphere and easy access to The Ridgeway's amenities.

Set behind double gates, this substantial detached Georgian style residence, built in 2001, comes to the market for the very first time. The approach immediately sets the tone for what is a home of both elegance and individuality.

The front door opens into a welcoming hallway, leading through to a splendid dual aspect lounge that spans the full width of the property. This inviting space is centred around a cosy woodburner, with French doors opening seamlessly onto the garden. A second reception room, currently arranged as a study, also benefits from French doors to the garden. At the heart of the home lies a spectacular extended kitchen, thoughtfully designed for both everyday living and entertaining. Quality cabinetry and a full suite of integrated appliances, including twin ovens, the space is anchored by a striking central island complete with a contemporary hot water tap. There is ample room for a dining while bifold doors open wide onto the garden, effortlessly blending indoor and outdoor living. A door leads through to a utility room with a vaulted ceiling and WC. Upstairs, the principal bedroom offers a retreat, complete with dressing room and en suite. Three further generous bedrooms are served by a family bathroom with a shower over the bath.

The delightful rear garden has been thoughtfully landscaped to provide a variety of zoned seating areas, perfect to enjoy uninterrupted views across the conservation area of Pathfields, with rolling grassland and semi wooded surroundings creating a truly picturesque outlook. The property further benefits from driveway parking for up to three vehicles, as well as a garage.

This unique contemporary residence is perfectly positioned within an area of outstanding natural beauty, offering an exceptional lifestyle opportunity in a highly desirable historical setting.
